Bridgewell honors George Sonia with its Visionary Leadership Award

Special to the Journal

As part of its Imagine the Possibilities Gala held on Friday, April 29 at the Fairmont Copley Plaza in Boston, Bridgewell honored Lancelot Janitorial & Paper Products owner George Sonia with the 2022 Visionary Leadership Award. Bridgewell's Visionary Leadership Award is presented to an individual who has provided leadership, dedication, and tireless efforts in support of the Bridgewell community.

Sonia and his team have worked with Bridgewell for more than 30 years. In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, Lancelot Janitorial & Paper Products helped Bridgewell secure PPE gear and cleaning products when they were difficult to obtain, ensuring that its essential employees had the supplies to operate Bridgewell's programs as safely as possible.

Spectacular Spartan

David Brown Jr. selected to Boston Globe Super Team

By Cary Shuman

The question is: What can David Brown Jr. do for an encore?

Brown, the sensational junior from St. Mary's High School, was selected to the Boston Globe Super Team, one of five players to receive arguably high school basketball's most prestigious individual honor.

To make it an even more memorable season for David Brown Jr, his father, David Brown Sr., was named the Globe's Division 3 Coach of the Year for leading the Spartans to the Division 3 state championship. David's teammate, Ali Barry, joined him on the post-season awards parade as a Globe and Herald All-Scholastic.

The Globe's Super Team

award marked another chapter in David's remarkable year during which he was named the Globe's Division 6 Football Athlete of the Year last fall.

The state championship game is a good place to start to recognize the basketball exploits of Brown, a 5-foot-9-inch guard, who put the finishing touches on the Spartans' 71-40 victory over Watertown with a spectacular dunk in the fourth quarter. The Spartans finished with a 27-1 record and a 26-game winning streak that DBJ and Company will carry into next season.

Statistically, Brown's season showed his total unselfishness at the point guard position and his commitment to all phases of the

ALCOHOL IS STILL #1

Americans have been dying prematurely at unprecedented levels in the past two years from a number of causes.

COVID-19 has taken away almost one million of our fellow Americans, with the number still rising daily for the foreseeable future.

Fatal accidents on our roadways, as we noted last week, have skyrocketed over the past two years.

Drug overdose deaths, mainly attributable to the lethal synthetic drug fentanyl, have exploded, exceeding 100,000 in 2021, compared to about 60,000 in 2019.

However, another statistic came to our attention in an article in the New York Times which is equally tragic and worrisome:

Among adults younger than 65, alcohol-related deaths outnumbered deaths from COVID-19 in 2020. Alcohol-related causes accounted for the deaths of 74,408 Americans ages 16 to 64, compared to 74,075 deaths of individuals under 65 who died from COVID.

More ominously, the rate of increase for alcohol-related deaths in 2020 — 25 percent — outpaced the rate of increase of deaths from all causes, which was 16.6 percent.

Alcohol-related deaths went up for men and women, as well as for every ethnic and racial group. Deaths among men and women increased at about the same rate, though the absolute number of deaths among men was much higher.

However, death rates alone don't tell the whole story of the direct and negative impacts that alcohol abuse has upon individuals, their family members, and our society as a whole.

Alcohol abuse is a crucial factor in just about every negative context one can imagine, ranging from domestic abuse, to violence among unrelated parties, to non-fatal traffic accidents that leave victims severely injured, to lost productivity in the workplace, to mental health issues, to health-care costs, to fetal alcohol syndrome.

Clearly, our society needs to undertake a public health campaign similar to what we did in the 1990s when the American public and politicians finally got tough on the tobacco companies by means of public health campaigns, increased taxes, and stricter enforcement of the laws prohibiting sales to minors.

Unlike tobacco or drugs, alcohol abuse impacts more than just the user -- and it's time that we acknowledge that reality and do something about it.

IS NUCLEAR WAR INEVITABLE IN UKRAINE -- AND BEYOND?

We don't want to sound like alarmists, but in our opinion, the escalation both in military weaponry and rhetoric by the Western powers and the Kremlin is bringing us closer and closer to the brink of nuclear warfare in Ukraine.

We fully support the effort of the U.S. and NATO to help the Ukrainian people defend themselves against the Russian genocide that is occurring in their country.

But none of the politicians or the experts have prepared the public for the possibility that Vladimir Putin will use tactical nuclear weapons to avoid what is looming as a significant military defeat.

The conventional wisdom is that Putin will restrict his army only to the use of conventional weapons.

But that is the rational thinking of those who do not have the mindset of a sociopath for whom rules do not apply.

History has shown us time and time again that sociopathic leaders have no limits. Just when we think, "They will never go THAT far," the sociopaths indeed cross the line and push the boundaries further.

Putin has at his disposal tactical "mini-nukes" that have the explosive power of just a fraction of the bombs we dropped on Japan in WWII.

So our question is this: If Putin uses one on the battlefield, what do we do?

By Joseph Reagan

On Memorial Day, 1945, the war in Europe had ended but the fighting in the Pacific continued. Lt. Gen. Lucian Truscott voiced remarks at the Sicily-Rome American Cemetery at Nettuno, Italy. Turning his back on the assembled VIP's he faced the rows upon rows of headstones and apologized to the 20,000 fallen Americans who had been laid to rest far from home. He was quoted as saying, "All over the world our soldiers sleep beneath the crosses. It is a challenge to us — all allied nations — to ensure that they do not and have not died in vain."

Fast forward to Memorial Day 2022, and the familiar voices of brothers in arms begin to call one another on the phone. People usually think of reconnecting with former military buddies as a joyous happening. However, for this Memorial Day, the topic of conversation was not an armistice, a promotion, or even a daughter's wedding or new addition to a home, it was about the latest in a string of suicides that silence the voice of our brothers but brought renewed connections from other familiar voices. One desperately said, "Sir, I needed to call someone who could understand this."

Everyone in the greatest generation understood war. At home they experienced rationing, schoolchildren collected scrap, and women took up factory jobs while overseas the troops endured combat and were witness to some of the largest and most brutal atrocities in the modern age. When the war was over, they followed the lead of Lt. Gen. Truscott and committed their lives to ensure that they "have not died in vain." The shared sacrifice of a generation united them and helped them solve tough problems.

In subsequent wars, such as the Korean and Vietnam era, Veterans did not experience the same level of understanding and thus either turned their voice inward or used their voice to fight for one another on subjects that varied from Agent Orange, PTSD, and other once-silent conditions.

The War on Terror introduced

GUEST OP-ED

Let us never forget our solemn pledge

a unique time in our nation's collective history as acts of war played out in real-time on our media devices. Although only one percent of Americans served post 9/11, it seems 100 percent of the country used their voice to express their opinions of this shared history as it unfolded.

For Korea and Vietnam Veterans, war was not a shared experience and therefore various voices having various opinions helped further the national conversation regarding the treatment of veterans leading to safer and more thoughtful approaches. Unlike the veterans of Korea and Vietnam, the veterans of the last several decades did not return home to the voices of dissent that could be addressed directly, instead, they returned to a polite nation that creates media of dissent and very little opportunity for honest, open dialog.

This new era of media, learning, and personal discussions bring rise to the question, "Do people really remember why we hold our veterans in a place of honor?" For years, voices saying meaningless phrases like "the enemy gets a vote" or "there's nothing you could have done" were meant to comfort those of us who have held the heavy responsibility of leading troops in combat. However, many people seem to lack the understanding that our hearts have been forever scarred by the invisible wounds of war, scarred by guilt and grief, and by the longing for forgiveness that will never come. Even if forgiveness was offered, it would be hard to accept as no mere words can undo a life experience and because of this, we often feel isolated, misunderstood, and undervalued therefore our voices remain silent.

As conversations with the voice on the other end of the phone come to its inevitable conclusion, I am reminded that to remain silent is a betrayal of my obligation to those who made the ultimate sacrifice. As Horace Bushnell once said, the best thing for us to do is to remember "what they have put it on us to do for the dear common country to which they sold their life." As we gather as one nation this Memorial Day, my hope is that instead of directing shallow words of gratitude at each other, we do as Lt. Gen. Truscott did and direct our gratitude directly towards those who made the ultimate sacrifice. In both our words and actions, let us all commit ourselves to serve the country to which they gave their lives.

While there is still much work munity and to our Bridgewell community, for more than 30 years – Mr. George Sonia,” said White. “George began working at Lancelot Janitorial & Paper Products when he was just 14 years old, and he purchased the company in 1988. George and his team have worked alongside Bridgewell, formerly Greater Lynn Mental Health, since then. “George has a tremendously strong work ethic, and he holds very high standards for his team. He understands the work we do at Bridgewell and the importance of our services to the community, which drives him to go above and beyond to support this work. He doesn’t do this just because he’s a good guy, or just because his business is rooted in excellent customer service. George goes above and beyond for Bridgewell because he is committed to our mission – and he truly cares about those we serve and how they can contribute as active members of the community.

In addition to all he has done for Bridgewell, George is a leader in his home and business community of Lynn. He’s been involved with My Brother’s Table since 1983, serving on its Board of Directors since 1985. Along with family and friends, George started an organization called “Freezin’ For a Reason,” which is a polar plunge fundraising event held each New Year’s Day at Nahant Beach to raise funds for local charities. In fact, Freezin’ For a Reason has raised over $100,000 in 7 years. George also supports a number of community events, such as this gala, and organizations like youth sports leagues, Boys and Girls Clubs, and Lynn Community Health Center.

George, we thank you for your steadfast support of Bridgewell and the Greater Lynn community. It is truly my pleasure to present you with Bridgewell’s Visionary Leadership Award in recognition of all your efforts,” concluded White.

George Sonia’s Award Acceptance Speech

George Sonia, who received a tremendous ovation from the assemblage that included his family and friends, delivered the following remarks in his gracious acceptance speech of Bridgewell’s Visionary Award:

First off, I just wanted to thank the entire Bridgewell organization and team for this great honor.

I also wanted to thank my wife Stephanie. I could never accomplish anything without her help and support.

The Gala is one of my favorite nights of the year and receiving this award makes it so much more special. Bridgewell is extremely important to me and my family. I admire and fully support their mission and I am proud to say The Bridgewell organization have been fantastic business partners for over 30 years. I’ve had the privilege of working alongside such a wide and diverse group of people over the years including the CEO, program managers, maintenance staff, and more. I actually worked at McDonalds with Elaine White and her family for a few years when I was in high school. But those stories will be kept out of this speech.

Over the years, I’ve been given the opportunity to see first-hand the amazing outreach Bridgewell provides to our community. I’ve been to the day programs, residential services, employment offices, and treatment programs and I have always seen the same things: people being treated with respect, positive reinforcement, and guidance. One thing I have always noticed is that staff and guests are always happy and have smiles on their faces.

It means everything to me to see Bridgewell carry out their mission by inspiring and empowering people experiencing everyday life challenges. Personally, I have a great friend, Nick Capano, that takes part in Bridgewell’s employment program and I see how much it means to him to be successful and counted on at work.

I have always admired how Bridgewell works and partners with their vendors. I believe we’ve worked so well together over the years because we both realize team work make everything better. This has never been more important than the last few years.

I have supported Bridgewell for many, many years and will continue to do so for a very long time to come.

Thank you!

A successful event

The Imagine the Possibilities Gala, held for the first time in person since 2019, raised $326,000, surpassing its goal of $300,000. All funds raised from the gala support Bridgewell’s behavioral health, day habilitation, employment, housing, and recovery programming.

Bridgewell strengthens communities by providing an unmatched range of social and human services that empower people with life challenges to live safe, self-directed and productive lives. We’re committed to helping people in need, from those with autism to people with substance use disorders, become engaged members of their communities. game, averaging 15.4 points, six assists, six rebounds, and three steals per game.

"I was really happy where I took my game this year," said Brown.

Brown nearly claimed his first state title as a freshman starting guard, but the Spartans fell to Jeremiah Burke at the TD Garden (Burke was declared co-state champion after COVID-19 forced the cancellation of the championship game). Last season's playoffs were canceled, but this season the Spartans left no doubt that they were among the elite teams in Massachusetts. Fans no doubt would have loved to have seen a BC High-St. Mary's battle of state unbeaten to determine the on-court No. 1 ranking. Wouldn't that matchup have been unbelievable?

"It's great to win a state title," said David Jr. "I really wish we had won that game in Florida, so we could have finished an unbeaten season. But in a way, I think that loss sort of helped us. I knew we had good shot of going far in the playoffs this year, but I didn't think we would win every game in Massachusetts."

Brown's year-to-year improvement, dating all the way back to elementary school, has been noteworthy. Brown played alongside current

St. Mary's teammates Ali Barry, Omri Merryman on AAU teams coached by his father, David Sr.

David Jr. credited his father for his coaching and his guidance in his basketball career. It's very helpful to get an instant critique on the ride home from games or at the dinner table.

"My dad's a great motivator," said David Jr. "He encourages us vigorously. When we're doing something wrong, he'll let you know that you have to do it better. I'm so honored to have him as our coach."

A proud father reflects on his son's amazing season

at St. Mary's, he went on to earn induction into the Westfield State University Hall of Fame as a team captain and a 1,000-point scorer while setting all-time school records in assists (373) and steals (224).

"I'm so happy for David," said Brown Sr. "He's been around the game for so long. He was able to witness state championship teams in 2016 (St. Mary's) and 2011 (Winthrop), and it's always been his goal. For him to earn a ring and achieve that goal this year, I'm just so excited for him. He had a tremendous season. He shot over 42 percent from three-point land. His assist-to-turnover ratio was something a coach wants from their point guard. He was one of our team leaders. When you have team leaders like David, Ali, and Henri, who are your hardest workers in practice, it makes the season very fun, very easy to coach, and the younger players follow them. They realize if the best players are working hard, the young players are going to follow that. This was a great season, and they were a very fun group to coach."

David Brown Sr. says that some of his son's dunks this season were stunning to watch.

"He's had a lot of exciting moments this year, a lot of dunks," said David Sr. "I know he's an athletic kid, but it shocks me every time he's able to get off the floor and put those down. He probably had over 20 dunks in a 28-game season, which is very surprising from a 5-9 guard. He commits to training in the off season, and it's paid off, for sure."

As for the 'encore' question. David Brown Jr. has 918 career points, so he'll likely join the St. Mary's 1,000-point club early in the 2022-23 season. And right now, the "Spectacular Spartan" is looking ahead to football season when he hopes to lead the school to yet another state championship.

And of course, David Brown Jr. is on the radar of several colleges in football and basketball.

"I'm grateful to the staff of Academic Services and Learning Resources and the Office of Multicultural Education for bringing Tri-Alpha to Holy Cross," said Murray. "Not only does membership in Tri-Alpha shine a bright light on the achievements of first-generation students, but it also affords students the opportunity to build their networks. The inaugural class of inductees is blazing a trail for others to follow."

In addition to the student inductees, two members of the College community were inducted as honorary members: Jorge Santos, associate professor of English, and Justine Fisher, associate director of Academic Services and Learning Resources.

WYOMA LITTLE LEAGUE HONORS TONY LUCIANO ON OPENING DAY

In a great, spontaneous tribute, players in the Wyoma Little League began chanting, "Thank You, Tony, Thank You, Tony," after WLL President Dan Veilleux had called upon the former league president, Tony Luciano, to throw out the first baseball of the 2022 season.

Veilleux had presented the Pop Estes Volunteer of the Year Award to Mr. Luciano, who "stepped up and became president 11-12 years ago and turned this league around and made it what it is today."

"If it wasn't for him [Luciano], we would not be on this field right now," Veilleux told the players, coaches, and guests at the Wyoma Little League Opening Day ceremonies April 30 at Reinfuss Field. "He was the driving force to getting lights at Reinfuss and at the softball field, also showcasing the city when Wyoma hosted the 2015 Little League State Finals.

"We honor Tony Luciano for all his time, effort, and sacrifice that he put in for Wyoma Little League," concluded Veilleux as he presented the Pop Estes Award.

Former Bridgewater State baseball star Jason Newhall caught the first pitch from Luciano.

to be done, the generation of Veterans from this century have access to vast resources, life-saving technology, and increased information. This same generation of Veterans is just now starting to define our post-service legacy and like our grandparents, return home with a deep commitment to service, and a desire to address the many problems that we face.

One such issue needing to be addressed is helping Veterans find purpose in their post-service lives. Truscott's apology to the dead are not empty words, but a strong voice reminding us that we have an obligation to choose resilience and purpose when faced with guilt or grief. As an example, Gold Star Families, who have experienced tremendous loss, continue to serve their communities to maintain the legacy of the loved one they lost. I often recall a colleague of mine responding to the question "why do you do so much to help Veterans?" he simply held up his finger, choking back tears he responded, "for the one I couldn't save." By choosing to use his voice to advocate for other veterans, he not only helped them find their purpose - he found his own.

It's often said that for those who have served "every day is Memorial Day," a traditionally silent observance in the Veteran's mind that can best be described as an impossible trinity made up of an overwhelming sense of guilt, grief, and grit. Usually, a moment of silence on this day is a welcomed and solemn way to honor the voices from our past, but for myself, after losing three former soldiers to suicide in the past few months, silence is no longer an option and the freedom to use our voice is the greatest gift that our veterans have to offer this Memorial Day.

Red Bull Cliff Diving World Series returns to Boston June 4

After a nine-year hiatus, Red Bull Cliff Diving World Series returns to Boston. The Boston stop, set for Saturday, June 4, will serve as the start to the 2022 season as the only stop in North America. The city's Seaport neighborhood will serve as the backdrop to the competition and the diving platform will rise again atop the Institute of Contemporary Art (ICA Boston). The event will take place on Saturday, June 4th atop the ICA Boston, with doors opening at 12PM and the show starting at 2PM.

To attend, spectators must obtain a complementary ticket via Eventbrite. As the 2022 season kicks off in Boston, art and sport will intersect in front of the prevailing ICA Boston where 24 of the world's cliff diving elite - 12 Men and 12 Women - are confirmed to once again leap, twist, and somersault from breathtaking heights into Boston Harbor. 8 full[1]time male and female divers will compete at each stop along the series with 8 additional location specific wildcard divers, 4 male, 4 female who will spice up what is already an eagerly awaited World Series. This will be the debut of the Women's Division in Boston since its inauguration in 2014, one year after Red Bull Cliff Diving's last appearance in Boston.

Ellie Smart sits on the roster as the only American with a permanent spot on the tour. Joining her, will be American female wild-cards; Genevieve Bradley and Meili Carpenter, and male wildcards; Andy Jones and David Colturi. Fans can expect this year's series to deliver another packed season full of high-flying drama, all set against a series of visually stunning and iconic backdrops from around the world. Red Bull Cliff Diving is considered the original extreme sport and combines aerial, acrobatic free falls and dives from almost three times the Olympic Diving height, with the daring elite athletes hitting the water in excess of 53mph/85kph, protected only by their concentration, skill, and physical control.

The series is pure, fast, and breathtaking. Spotlights the sport's finest athletes competing at the highest level, it provides a platform for awe-inspiring action and dives of incredible complexity where participants launch themselves from heights of 90ft / 27m (men) and 70ft / 21m (women), hitting the water in under three seconds. A thrilling quest for perfection and excellence to win the glorious King Kahekili Trophy is guaranteed in this 13th season. King Kahekili, after whom the women and men champion's trophies are now named, was a Hawaiian chief who first leapt from the holy cliffs of Kaunolo in the 1700's. He challenged his warriors to do the same to prove their bravery and loyalty. Since 2009, the World Series has featured the sport's finest talents alongside promising newcomers, and since 2014, has also provided a platform for Women. Although reigning champions Gary Hunt (FRA) and Rhiannan Iffland (AUS) are the veterans to catch, the 2022 World Series will be younger and stronger than ever before with 4 permanent divers between 20 and 23 years of age.

Sports Director and cliff diving legend Orlando Duque believes that it is all up for grabs this season, as established divers up their games and newcomers look to podium on a regular basis. Exciting battles will be in store this season. 2022 Red Bull Cliff Diving World Series Calendar includes:

- June 4 - Boston, USA
- June 18 - Paris, FRA
- July 16 - Copenhagen, DEN
- August 13 - Oslo, NOR
- August 27 - Mostar, BIH
- September 11 - Sisikon, SUI
- September 25 - Polignano a Mare, ITA
- October 15 - Sydney, AUS

Red Bull Cliff Diving World Series

Since 2009, the Red Bull Cliff Diving World Series has provided a platform for aesthetic free falls and dives of ever-growing complexity, spotlighting the sport's finest athletes as well as the most promising breakthrough talents. A pure extreme sport, the World Series is hosted in exceptional locations where athletes launch from natural rocks, historical bridges or next to waterfalls always with the aim of acting environmentally responsible and increasing the awareness for the sustainability of our planet. In 2022, 24 of the world's best cliff divers - 12 women and 12 men - will once again leap, twist, and somersault from breath-taking heights of up to 90ft / 27m and at speeds in excess of 53 m/h / 85km/h, with no protection but their concentration, skill, and physical control, at eight demanding stops around the world. A thrilling quest for perfection and excellence to win the glorious King Kahekili Trophy is guaranteed in the Red Bull Cliff Diving World Series' 13th season.
